

MARCELLUS MATTEUS DE CASTRO

PROFILE

Marcellus is a very energetic and outspoken smart kid. Just like any regular kid, he loves watching superhero movies (especially Spider-man) and of course all other kids' shows. Until one day, the acting bug bit him – he wanted to try and audition to see if he can be an actor on TV, and maybe someday be in the big screen. Marcellus is a natural but does not have any formal training. Both parents have no experience or knowledge in show business. So far, Marcellus had only done two auditions and he had gotten the parts for both. For Blue's Clues & You!, he was only called for one episode but during the shoot, he was requested by the production team to be in another episode as well for a sing and dance part.

Marcellus also did an audition for CBC Kids, an open audition that had thousands of kids that lined up for a role. Marcellus was one of the kids that was called back to work with the host for the whole part of the segment. The following year, Marcellus was again contacted by CBC to be in one of their kids' shows without even going for an audition. His family is very thankful he is blessed with the natural gift of acting and the love for show business. He would love to explore the Movie and TV industry and is hoping to be given a chance to show all his capabilities.
