

Gail Berry

Gail Berry was born in Toronto Canada and started her singing career in her teens, as a back-up vocalist. She then moved on to singing in a number of hotel lounges throughout Ontario.

Moving to Rome, where she learned to speak and sing in Italian, she toured as a soloist in Europe and in the Middle East, as well as performing with a "Tribute To The Platters" in Italy, France, Switzerland and the former Yugoslavia.

Since returning to Canada, Gail has performed in the United States of America. Antigua, Havana, Cuba for "Radio Havana", Grenada, at the "Spice Jazz Festival". Beaches Jazz Festival in Toronto 2002. The 4th Annual Dominican Republic Jazz Festival and with a number of local musicians. Also "The Essence of Brown Sugar" presented by Some Mo Black Men Productions.

Throughout her career, Gail has gained a wealth of experience, in a wide variety of settings, with a wide variety of individuals and musical venues. As a vocalist she has performed with trios, quartets, quintets and big bands.

She has provided background vocals for such individuals as, Stevie Wonder, Martha Reeves of the Vandellas, John Anderson of "Yes", Celine Dion, Freda Payne, and Dorothy Moore among others.

Gail performed on radio, television, cruise ships and in casinos. Also has recorded in many studios and theatre venues.